Sixteen Dead, Hundred Injured, $400,000 Loss In Property Damage

One Village Is Wiped Out While Others Are Badly Shattered by a Whirling Tornado from Southwest

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 16.—Sixteen dead, approximately one hundred injured and property damage estimated at between $300,000 and $400,000, made up the known toll tonight of a tornado which swept seven delta counties in northern Mississippi last night, demolished one village, Savage, and left a trail of property damage and dead and maimed in seven other towns and farming settlements.

Several hundred are homeless. Of the known dead, nine lost their lives when the storm battered the remnants of the town of Savage—badly damaged two months ago by a tornado—into bits and carried half a dozen dwellings into Colliver river.

Five whites and five negroes were killed at Savage. Six others were killed when their cabins were blown down. Lumberton, a negro city, and a negro woman, died at Walnut Hills.

William Pruitt, farmer, was killed in the storm. His death is attributed to the excitement of the storm. The storm, a whirling wind which moved at 100 miles an hour, struck the town of Savage, which was a small town, and carried off the lives of five whites and five negroes. The storm was a very severe one, and it was a very bad one.

MOST WOMEN BUY TOO MANY CLOTHES--PEGGY

IT'S A WOMAN WHO SAYS SO, TOO

By Marian Hale.

ARE you scanning the fashion books?
Are you saving out of your family household allowance?

All of course, for your Easter style apparel.

If so, take a word of advice from Peggy Hott, the fashionable New York woman, whose taste and taste are in demand by the best dressed women of society and the stage. She knows whereof she speaks.

Don't buy too much, she urges. Keep and plan before you spend. Build your wardrobe as a whole, not bit by bit. Plan it as you would a house, beginning with the basement.

Basement Color Scheme.
"Decide on a color scheme for the year. All your costumes that will be harmonious and in one key. Perhaps you'll want the dominant color navy blue, to predominate. Review your huge and gray—the two most beautiful shades for the American woman."

"Then your shoes and hats will match any of your costumes and you will not need a large number of accessories as you do when each costume is a unit by itself."

The trouble is most women buy too many clothes, too casually and too carelessly. They have so much to select from that they never develop an individual style. They make bad combinations or use over-complete each costume to the point of distraction.

Plan and Think.
"For that reason I honestly believe that women with limited income, if they plan to dress better than their sisters whose purses have no bottom, because they have to plan and don't think."

"This should be essential to good dressing."

Stick over the idea that lots of clothes are necessary in a wardrobe. They aren't. But let everything you own count. It's the gown you buy and don't wear that is extravagant, not the one for which you pay a good price, but are satisfied with and wear with pleasure as long as you have it.

Three good dresses are better than a wardrobe full of cheap or poorly selected ones.

Simple and Elegant.
True elegance is achieved by simplicity. Miss Hott believes. A well-dressed woman can walk down the street without attracting attention. She says, "but she is always noticeable among well-dressed women for the reason that she is."

Study the Auto.
"If we ran our automobiles as we do ourselves, we would drive our time between a hospital and police court," she explains. "We change from running a car to running a car. We run the speed as we change. In running a car, we fall to recognize the importance of changing gears at all. We throw the laws of health to the winds."

"To tell the most out of life we must change our rhythm. People who watch not only our step but our speech, our gait, our manner, our change tempo or relax not only suffer themselves, but make everyone about them suffer."

Change Your Tempo.
After friction at home or in the office, Miss Hott urges a change of mood.

"If a man on the way to the office."

With Any AND DEAUVILLE SCARF You Will Be in Style

By Marian Hale.

The most distinctive novelty of this season—of a good many seasons, in fact—is the colorful Deauville scarf.

Deauville as you doubtless know is the great French summer resort on the coast of Brittany, and the most expensive, one of the most fashionable in Europe.

I was at Deauville, you may remember, that King Alfonso of Spain spent a lot of time last season, dancing with any number of pretty girls, giving an expensive brunch to each of those he favored thus—making himself as popular, indeed, that this year his advisers said they'd rather he stayed at home—his coming around had attracted a little too much attention.

For Sportswear.
Away from the Deauville scarf first appeared at this famed resort—originally intended for sportswear.

But it was too much of a success to be limited, in its activities, to any time, place or style of dress, and to day, it's featured in connection with evening gowns, afternoon attire, house dresses and even slippers.

It's added, then, and such to the dull costume women had accepted for business wear and it relieved the deadly monotony of the sartorial scene.

Naturally there are bound to be variations, so it isn't surprising to find ribbon being used decoratively in a manner which the scarf pattern inspired.

Save Your Pocket.
The photographs will give you suggestions that may enable you to save the old Deauville scarf, instead of discarding it as a "fashionable" costume from it. Instead, by the purchase of a few yards of ribbon and the expenditure of a little ingenuity.

To make the ribbon scarf, cover your hand with a very long and wide ribbon, preferably figured, doubled over and then the doubled pieces stitched together in the center, then knotted at one end. One end is drawn through the loop and the other's used to make the new or knotted tie.

The upper left is shown as a desirable drape that may be used about the neck, thus, as you please. To make it, two pieces of ribbon are joined to make a square, one piece about a yard long with a double knot in the center, the other through which the other end, about

Perfecting of her lines and fabrics. "This year there is a return to color and we are going to be tempted by much that the knowing woman will resist the temptation to look like an Egyptian princess or the sleek wife."

APPLE FRITTERS

By Bettina E. Shapleigh of Columbia University.

Mix a cup of flour, a quarter teaspoon of salt and a teaspoon of baking powder. Then slowly add a well-beaten egg and a tablespoon of milk, until a smooth batter is made. Add two eggs, one at a time, and add two more cups of flour. Having all the spoon will hold the batter.

SIMPLE-ANYBODY CAN TRIP THE TANGO NOW

TUT'S Pa-in-Law

By Marian Hale

Good news! "They've taken the 'trick' out of an intricate dance, in-tri-cue-see!"

In other words the tango has been simplified; anybody can dance it now.

"This difficult Argentine dance always has been a favorite among the smart—those accomplished individuals whose feet have had all the advantages of a university education attended to by a master's degree."

Much too hard!

But with those of us whose toes never get beyond the primer or maybe the grammar school grade, it simply never has been our medium of telegraphic expression. Too hard!

And because we have represented the great majority of dancers, the tango has failed to become a ball-room favorite.

Now all this is changed.

The musical director of the Palace Theatre of Paris has made the tango so easy that by inventing "La Mamma Tango," danced to a tune of that name, which roughly translated into English means "The Tango-Mamma."

Twill Travel West

Not only is it the rage in Paris, but in New York, too, and they are scheduled for group delivery to all points west.

Take regular position, both dancers facing forward. Following with four light, quick steps, heels off the floor—now tango!

Next, with alternating steps—

Second movement.

Take four steps to the right and four to the left—third movement, swinging around into a dip, the dancers facing—fourth movement.

No It Once Again

Bliss erect from the dip, all facing forward. Take four steps to the right and four back to the left, pivot and swing into the—fifth movement— which brings the partners side by side into "Pomp and Circumstance."

Then four steps forward, four steps back, dip twice and bring into the original steps for repetition of the entire series.

That's all, there is to it—there isn't any more.

SEEK $5,000,000 BURIED TREASURE

WICHITA, Kan.—In quest of $5,000,000 in gold, buried three centuries, an adventurous party will start early this spring from Wichita to the rarely penetrated mountains of New Mexico on a treasure hunt beside which the romance of "Treasure Island" and Captain Kidd seem commonplace.

Fred Marjot, French Canadian and former employee of the United States Geological Survey, and Dr. Charles G. Baker, wealthy Wichita dentist and Marjot's financial backer, will be the principals in the expedition.

An ancient tale, gleaned from the black-letter text of old French documents and records, and hinted at in obscure and forgotten histories, gives the treasure seekers their knowledge of the rich gold cache.

Days the tale—which history verifies—

In 1520 the French government, then in control of the vast tract known as the Louisiana territory, sent a party of 300 to explore it and between Louisiana and the Pacific.

They went up the Rio Grande Valley and traveled inland. Running out of water, they turned back toward the river. They found the ruins of a city, evidently once the scene of volcanic disturbance.

Scattered about on the ground and in cracks and crevices in the rocks, they found gold. Almost pure gold. It was everywhere.

But before they could get away with the metal, the French soldiers, attacked by Apaches, they beat the savages off. But the gold and the raid, they buried the gold.

The Apaches, who were in alliance with the French, saw all the Frenchmen saw. Two, three, acquired, and their way back to France and told their story at the French court. The king sent a powerful expedition to recover it. But the expedition never was heard from. The ship destined west down at sea with all hands.

But this tale is not the only clue to the treasure. In 1828 two shepherds were watching their flocks, grazing in the rough region near Yuni, N.M.

Suddenly the staff of one of the shepherds sank into the ground. Quickly the two men began to dig.

A deep shaft was disclosed.

Half was down it was barred by a large, flat rock. The shepherds tried this side. In the dark passage they could not see two heavy wooden doors with iron hinges. At the pit's bottom lay an object resembling an iron crucible. An ancient rattle-jointer crumbled when they touched it.

Terrified, the superstitious shepherds closed the pit and never again visited it. But they told their discovery to a Spaniard who reported it to Marjot when he was exploring New Mexico for the United States Geological Survey.

The same shepherds, says Marjot and Baker, will serve as guides to the present expedition. They are certain the mysterious pit contains the French gold.

"I'm convinced we'll find the treasure," says Marjot.

"So am I," says Baker.

THE FLAPPER IS NEW PROBLEM OF INDUSTRY, SAY WOMEN, FIGHTING OVER 8-HOUR DAY

By Josephine Van de Gilt, NEA Service Staff Writer.

NEW YORK—And now the flapper is threatening to disrupt industry. When is the girl-worker a flapper? What is she not a flapper? And how many hours should she toil?

These questions are the present source of contention between the warring camps of the Women's Trade Union league and the National Women's party.

The controversy came when these organizations split over labor legislation designed for women workers.

"The greatest problem of industry is the problem of the flapper," says Miss Frances Perkins, women's labor commissioner, speaking for the Women's Trade Union league. "Only two per cent of the women in industry are under 21 years of age. The rest are all other working women, should be protected by an eight-hour law."

"The flapper cannot be a flapper if she declares Miss Adelaide A. Steadman, national field research secretary for the National Women's party. "Until she is 18, give her the protection accorded children."

"After she is 18, let her make her own way in the world under the same conditions as men work. To have legislation compelling her to work only a certain number of hours a day, to enter only certain industries, will cripple her capacity, keep her a mental flapper all her life."

"If they had had an eight-hour day when I began pounding the typewriter," says Miss Beatrice Brown, contributing to the controversy, "I'd probably be pounding it today."

"I went to work as a stenographer when I was 15 years old and I made 16 a week. I was a mighty independent stenographer, but on Saturday when there was some extra work to be done I offered to come back Sunday and do it."

"That got the best interested in me. He met a stenographer until today I have a business of my own. I'd never be where I am today if I hadn't been allowed to work overtime."

"Protect the flapper," says Constance Talmadge and Harold Hays, who were in the picture "The Flapper."

"Give her a chance," says Secretary Friedman.

"Get!" says the flapper.

AT TOMB OF TUTANKHAMEN

Lady Rochester, beautiful American daughter-in-law of the Earl of Carnarvon, has been a prominent figure in the society group which gathered in the Valley of the Nile to view the discovery of the Royal tomb. Lady Rochester is the wife of Earl of Carnarvon's only son and before her marriage was Catherine W. Wendell of New York.

Courts Cut Breach of Promise Awards

Chicago Jurists Appraise Delayed Wedding Bells at $1.00 to $25.00

By How Gibbons, NEA Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, March 18—Bless up! Here's a word!

Just runs the current case trend on Chicago's love market.

From a series of court decisions, the law has been made plain. If a man has seduced a woman, with intent to marry, and then fails to do so, he is liable for breach of promise damages. But around a radical change.

Thwarted date of cupid are worth but from $1 to $25 a pittance. Judicial price fixers have decreed.

Just handed down here, it has become evident the attitude of jurists toward alleged seduction, which used to be measured with gold, is now measured with a nickel.

For proof, turn your eyes over the following instances. Just around from the heart in Miss Kathleen Binkley, who sued for $25,000 for five years ago and the husband had insisted on her name, face, neck and shoulders. Neither party loved the other. But a jury gave Miss Binkley $25,000, or $250 a day, for five years.

Judge David, sitting in the local Superior Court, has officially pronounced the law has no right to set a price on love.

He made this fact known when he gave a $1,000 verdict in a "love case" had awarded Mrs. Helen A. Kullen in a breach of promise case.

Which perhaps is one of the reasons why during the past three weeks, more than 25 wedding bells of promise suits, have been settling down to $250,000 have been settling quietly out of court.

Woman Runs Budget of Big State as She'd Run A Home—Economically

By Gene Cohen

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—California's finances are being run by a woman—Mrs. Nellie Berwen Perkins.

When Fred W. Richardson was running for Governor he promised economy. Heated his campaign. Mrs. Perkins to put it into effect for him.

Probably she's the first woman who ever drafted a state budget.

How she slashed figures.

How much she'll have saved by the end of her first year as budget director it's too soon to say yet, but all indications are that the total will run into many, many millions.

Of course her economies haven't been popular with politicians. Whips of crookedness have been directed against her. Mrs. Perkins doesn't run and hide, however. When she answers at all, it is to defend herself vigorously. Her point about it is—out unyielding.

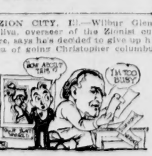

"Every woman who ever run a home knows what frugality and economy mean," she says. "State budget-making is the same as a household budget, except on a larger scale."

MISS NELLIE BERWEN PERKINS

TOO BUSY!

So Voliva Won't Sail Around World to Prove It's Flat.

One better and sailing around the world to prove that it's flat as a pancake—at least temporarily.

Voliva has just been convicted on a charge of criminal libel against him by the pastor of an upstart sect here. And the over-zealous fight in court has taken and will take so much of his time that he just can't spare the time to travel around the earth's rim.

One of the tenets of the Zionist belief in the world is flat and is surrounded by water. The modern geographical teaching of a ball-shaped earth is regarded as heretical and anti-Zionist.

"I am going to gather an expedition to sail around the outer rim of the world and prove that Zionism is correct," he has vowed. "I will sail in the twinkling of an eye."

TO FIGHT MOVIE WAR IN THEATRES

Hays-Fairbanks Duel Will Center in the Playhouses

By Jack Jonesmeyer

LOS ANGELES—Motion picture theatres in Edmonton and in other communities throughout the United States will be the real battlefield in the movie war, declared between Douglas Fairbanks and Harold Hays, who fought to a finish.

It is from Hollywood that battle communications of the two principals will be heard, but it is in the theatres of the nation—from the elaborate "picture palaces" of the great cities to the "one-act movie" of the hamlet—that the actual fighting will take place.

There is no doubt that the battle drama is selling in motion picture and that war to the death, immediate between star and magnate involving the very foundations of the industry.

The conflict now shaping is between the more powerful independent producers, with their big producing corporations.

What Stars Seek

The stars, and the producers, are looking for better profits for actors, of the same time securing the producers of creating conditions that will defeat piracy.

This threatens to array all forces of the film drama in opposition, with the stars and producers having in the balance.

Douglas Fairbanks, heady deity of the independent actor-producers, fired the first shot when he married Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, W. Griffith, Norma and Constance Talmadge and Harold Hays, who were in the picture "The Flapper."

"To protect the independent producer and exhibitor from certain exploitation" held by these alliances, to the best interests of the industry.

Hays His Opponent

The traitor head of the faction opposing Fairbanks and his allies is Charles Hays, who has been Fairbanks' enemy since the days of his first production company in America, the organization generated by the independent actor-producers.

This organization includes Universal and seven others. They are the picture makers of the world, and their picture makers the great majority of the picture houses of America. Many of them, foster what is known as the program system of production with fixed time limit, fixed expenditures and other rigid exactness characterized by opponents as a "canon system rather than an art."

Producers of the nature turn out a definite number of pictures a year. Many of them are financed by men who have no artistic sense, but who are interested in getting their money out of the picture business as fast as they can.

Seek Records

It is against the type of production that the independent actor-producers have in mind. They are certain that the latter are in rebellion, and that they are not under their banner.

The war, having been started here, now will be carried into the theatres of the nation. Hays, who is controlled by the various big producing organizations to such an extent that independent art power is written the book he would like to write, has been told that he must write the book he would like to write, and nothing has been heard from him since.

MURIEL'S HAPPY

John D's Granddaughter Has Made Own Way Five Months

MURIEL MCCORMACK AND (INSET) HER HOME

By Gray Gibson

CHICAGO—Into the front entrance of an unpretentious apartment house, facing the street, Muriel McCormack, granddaughter of John D. McCormack, richest man in the world, and daughter of Harold McCormack, Chicago Harvester multimillionaire.

Muriel has been living there five months—since she "fled" from the Gold Coast home of her mother to escape "an arduous life" and started her own shop across the way.

I had called to see how the business was getting along in her new surroundings.

"I'm happy," said Muriel, looking out of her side to show from which eye she can see the back door and garage case of her former Gold Coast home. "There, really nothing is sentimental about it."

"I've been pampered and petted all my life. That's why I came here—to get away from it. This helps on your own is the only way to live in America, and independent."

"I define my living, you know, from my own."

"You said—dresses?" I interrupted.

NEW CONTRACT FOR MILDRED

One look at this picture and you've guessed why they're so happy—Harold Davis, film comedian and Mildred Davis, his leading lady, are engaged. With the nuptial date set for the very near future.

total exports last season were 7,876,000 bushels, so that even up to February 1 the exports have shown a very decided increase. Some members of the exchange are sanguine that the best of the season is yet to come. Vancouver exports will reach at least a total of 15,000,000 bushels, which was the figure forecasted in September last. It is pointed out that the shipments would have been much higher had they not been for the fact that there had been better handling facilities at Vancouver before the Australian and Argentine crop came on the market. It is also pointed out that there have been the very considerable flour shipments from Vancouver this season. For

WHEN grandmother kept house, Monday and Tuesday were washing and ironing days. Friday and Saturday were for housecleaning and beating the rugs. A lot of time was lost in cooking, washing the dishes and other household chores.

Today the up-to-date housekeeper's washing is done before Monday noon. Electric irons speed Tuesday into a couple of hours. Grandmother never imagined that meals could be prepared so rapidly, or that dish-washing could be disposed of in such short order. She would have marveled at the effectiveness of vacuum cleaners, better cleansers and the many household helps designed to lighten, soothe and improve the work.
